No. 134

AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATIVE DEVELOPMENTS. . . . October 18, the Senate Judiciary Committee reported a revised Government re-organization bill; the Senate passed a bill to provide for use of surplus property in soil conservation and forestry; October 19, the House passed a bill rescinding various appropriations including funds for lend-lease emergency food supplies for territories and possessions, WFA salaries and expenses, and the emergency rubber project; the House received from the President an appropriation estimate to continue the farm labor program for an additional year. October 24, the House passed a measure to permit Government alcohol plants to produce sugar and syrups; both Houses received the conference report on a bill to discontinue land-grant freight rates and to provide for settlement of veterans on reclamation projects.

U. S. CIVILIANS TO GET NEARLY 100 MILLION POUNDS OF BUTTER. . . . Nearly 100 million pounds of butter will be released for the civilian trade shortly after November 1, under USDA's sales plan. This includes nearly 13 million pounds of butter from USDA and 7 million pounds from the War Shipping Administration, in addition to the 80 million pounds already released by the Army. Also effective November 1 is the removal of the five-cent per pound Government subsidy on butter and the advance of five cents in the ceiling price allowed creameries and wholesalers, announced by the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. Civilians will receive about 135 million pounds of butter monthly, compared with a pre-war average of 150 million pounds, and a monthly average this year of about 85 million pounds before the end of the war.

TIME SCHEDULE FOR 1946 PRODUCTION GOALS. . . . The final time schedule for release of the 1946 production goals may be delayed somewhat in order that all possible factors affecting requirements for next year may be considered. Rapidly changing conditions brought about by the end of the war call for careful appraisal by the committees who are studying requirements for commodities on which goals have not been determined. Suggested goals have already been sent to the States on crops for which farmers must make plans this fall and winter. They are: wheat, rye, winter vegetables, winter cover crop seeds, winter flaxseed, dry peas, commercial early potatoes, and the spring pig crop. Farmers will need production information on other crops about the first of the year.

POTATO GOALS. . . . A recommended goal of 308,500 acres for the 1946 crop of commercial early potatoes is ready for release to State production committees. This decrease from the 358,900 acres planted in 1945 is based on sharply reduced military requirements from the 1946 crop. In making this goal it was assumed that there will be no abnormal carry-over from the large 1945 crop and that national income will remain relatively high. Price supports for the entire 1946 potato crop will be announced when goals for other potatoes are ready.

FAO DEVELOPMENTS. . . . Six more nations have signed the FAO constitution. They are: Bolivia, Brazil, Columbia, Cuba, Ecuador, and Poland. The Committee on Agriculture is by far the largest of such groups set up at the Quebec Conference. It consists of 60 persons and is divided into the following panels:

(1) Rural Social Welfare, (2) Education, Extension and Exchange of Scientific Information, (3) Production Research and Techniques, (4) Soil Resources Development and Conservation, (5) Integration and Co-ordination of Agricultural Programs and Policies, (6) Credit Cooperatives and Related Matters, (7) Industrial Needs for Agriculture, (8) Special Needs for War Devastated Countries, and (9) Special Needs for Countries in Tropical and Sub-tropical Regions.

The two vice chairmen of the Committee on Agriculture are P. V. Cardon, Administrator of USDA's Agricultural Research Administration, and S. L. Louwes, Netherlands Director General of Food Supply.

All Committees are expected to submit reports to their respective commissions by October 29. The chief remaining work of the Conference will be selection of a Director General of FAO and an executive committee of from 9 to 15 members. Action taken at the Conference by members of FAO who are also a part of the International Institute of Agriculture will probably lead to dissolution of I.I.A. and transfer of its properties (in Rome) to FAO. Secretary Anderson returned to Washington from Quebec October 19 but is expected to attend the final days of the Conference.

"ANTI-INFLATION" CAMPAIGN. . . . Some 2400 communities in the country are arranging to observe "anti-flation week" at various times during the month of November. The idea originated recently with the Chamber of Commerce at Jackson, Tenn., as farm organizations and other citizens' groups cooperated in a "Victory Over Inflation Week." Panel discussions, special radio programs, talks at schools and colleges, newspaper publicity, mass meetings, display materials, parades, and such were used to emphasize the need for price control. OPA has requested the support of USDA people in helping to make this voluntary campaign of the people a success. You may refer interested groups to the Information Panel of local Price Control Boards for OPA assistance in their plans.
